ECOLOGY PROBABLY has a different meaning to some than it has to others; but, regardless of that, the word has become an important part of everyone's vocabulary today.

The strange thing about that is that just a few years ago only a relatively few people used the word or knew its meaning, although there were many of the same environmental problems in existence then as there are today.

The word has served the very useful purpose of making people conscious of their environmental surroundings.

The Press has not yet established an ecology department, but a number of news releases have come across the desk lately addressed to the "ecology editor".

The latest such release was from the public relations department of Lucky Brewers and explained how the Lucky Brewerys' ecology programs have created summer jobs for young recycling experts.

According to the publicity handout, the brewery's recycling project has generated thousands of dollars of income for volunteer organizations that collect Lucky bottles and cans.

The young were employed to help church groups and youth clubs understand how the program works.

Lucky claims, according to the release, to have one of the most successful bottle-and-can recycling programs in the nation.

It is also claimed (in the news release) that Lucky is the first brewer with a plan to buy back its bottles and cans.

With the news release was a 12-page booklet that explains the program in detail with the notation "Printed on Recycled Paper".

We were quite impressed by the brewery's efforts in the ecological field.

It might cause us even to change the brand of beer we sip.

MAYBE THE PRESS does need an ecology editor after all.

We could refer matters pertaining to trees to that department, for example.

We have been blasted in a letter-to-the-editor for calling attention in last week's issue to the removal of trees on school district property off Allendale Ave. in Saratoga.

The writer claimed that we were not interested in trees or ecology, but just wanted to rekindle flames.

She also submitted that the Saratoga residents expressed their genuine concern about the removal of the trees in a responsible manner, rather than making their protest to the press.

"They quietly contacted the school district in an effort to remedy the situation", she adds.

We must admit that the Saratoga residents did not contact The Press (capital letters) but somehow the press (small letters) knew about the protests.

We first learned about it from a big spread with pictures and the names of the protestors which appeared in the San Jose Mercury.

The writer also suggested that we were allied with Gordon Abbott and Hank Mestice in putting the district in a poor light with this tree thing.

We don't really mind being in the same camp with Hank and Gordon.

We have been there before and we know we could do worse.

But that's really not the point.

We think it ridiculous to shout "collusion" whenever one questions whether good or poor judgment has been used in a given situation.

In this tree-removal bit, we think poor judgment was used.

And it doesn't take an ecologist to come to that conclu-

NOW IN PLACE---Personnel from the Federal Sign and Signal Co. and Conmat this week put the clock tower at the city hall in place. The clock will be installed this next week. The City Council recently authorized the construction of the clock tower at the request of the Chamber of Commerce although the CofC was still $1700 short of the $5000 needed. The tower was in the original plans for the city hall, but was eliminated in the interest of economy. The CofC then undertook the task of raising the necessary money.

Ticking ahead with the clock tower

During the week, 10 contributions were received for the city hall clock tower fund totalling $145, Len Edholm, Chamber of Commerce reported.

Since the drive for individual donations began, $486 has been received.

The clock tower committee this week, in renewing the appeal for contributions, re-emphasized that the entire objective of the campaign was to get citizens involved in "something of their very own" at the new city hall.

The citizens' clock tower committee, under CofC direction, hopes to raise $1700 from individuals in the third phase of the fund-raising campaign.

The first two phases, the kiddies matinee and a gala premiere raised $3000 toward the approximately $5000 construction cost.

Those contributing to the fund this week included, Bob Bullard, Valley Title, Dr. John Hughes, Campbell Press, David Hanush, Dr. Charles Edman, Mrs. Freeman Thompson, VFW Post No. 635, Mrs. Maude Smith, Jim Schafer..

Contributions to the tower fund should be sent to "Clock Tower" c/o CofC Office, 100 W. Rincon Ave., or P. O. Box 85.

RAIN DROPS

On Wednesday, Aug. 25, an electrical storm, the first of its magnitude in many years, dropped .17 inches of rain here.

Many people watched as the thunder roared and lightening flashed across the sky on Wednesday night. It was a sight not too familiar to many residents of the area.

In another brief encounter, the skies dropped .02 inches of rain on Monday night (Aug. 30), bringing the total rainfall for the 1971-1972 season to .19 inches. Normal for this date would be .05 inches; however, last year at this time no rain had been recorded, according to the Campbell Water Co.

City receives $10,775 for RR crossings

The California Public Utilities Commission has allocated $10,775 to Campbell to assist the city in paying for its share of the costs of improved crossing protection at two crossings of the Southern Pacific tracks. The crossings are at Pollard Road and at Hacienda Ave. at Winchester.

The city and the railroad agreed to share equally in constructing the new protection, which consists of two flashing light signals with automatic gates at Pollard Rd. and three flashing light signals with automatic gates at Hacienda Ave. Cost of construction was estimated to be $43,100.

The PUC allocation from the crossing protection fund will pay half the city's share of construction of the project.

ROOFS TO GO ON---BUT

School board rejects bids for paving job

Seven schools in the Campbell Union (elementary) School District will have their roofs repaired as planned, but the paving jobs at the schools will be delayed as the result of the board of trustees action last Thursday when bids for the two improvement projects were received.

The trustees awarded the contract for re-roofing to California Roofing Co., of San Jose for a low bid of $24,115. Two other bids were received ranging to a high of $31,987.

All the bids were below the estimate of $60,000 for the job.

But it was a different story in the paving case.

Two bids were received for the paving, resurfacing, sealing and repairing of the "blacktop" surfaces for the 13 schools in the district.

Both bids exceeded the estimate of $52,588 by such a wide margin that the board rejected them all and directed staff to redraw the specifications and call for new bids.

Jim D'Avis, acting superintendent, reported that under the wage and price directive, the pay increases for employees of the district that had been granted by the trustees on Aug. 5 and were retroactive to July 1, were permissible, according to the legal opinions of the county coun-

Committee to report on tax base

A progress report by the citizens' committee appointed to study all aspects of a proposed tax election for the Campbell Union (elementary) School District is scheduled for the board of trustees meeting on Sept. 16.

The present operation tax rate of $2.55 per $100 assessed valuation will revert to $1.85 on June 30, 1972 unless the voters approve continuing or raising the rate before that time.

Eight members were appointed to the committee by Dr. Richard MacQuiddy, board president, and Jim D'Avis, acting superintendent.

The committee can be augmented by other citizens and, in addition, C.E. Bradley, district business manager; D'Avis and MacQuiddy serve as ex-officio members.

Members of the committee include, Dr. Bob King, trustee; John Merriell, former trustee; Herb Wadley, teacher; Rolf Monroe, teacher; Dave MacLeod, principal; Mrs. Melva Miller, classified employee; and Bob Renfer and Buck Austin.

REV. W. H. (BEN) GOULD

MANY FILE FOR OFFICE

Rev. W.H. (Ben) Gould runs for college board

The Rev. William H. (Ben) Gould, 63, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Campbell since 1961, this week announced that he would be a candidate for election of trustee of the West Valley Community College District in the October 26 special election.

Filing deadline for the election is this Thursday, Sept. 2 at 5 p.m. in the County Registrar of Voters' office.

At press time on Tuesday, eight candidates had filed for the office and Rev. Gould's candidacy assures a field of at least nine in the race for the one position that is open.

Those filing included, Frederic A. Weed, 4225 Bloomfield Dr., San Jose, college professor; Charles Tillers, 3478 Parkland Ave., San Jose, investment analyst; James H. Towers, Jr., 1606 Inglis Ln., San Jose, deputy sheriff; Kenneth C. Crawford, 15391 Herring Ave., San Jose, special mechanic; Stephen L. Millich, 1707 Silverwood Dr., San Jose, attorney; Gary W. DeRosa, 5119 Rafton Dr., San Jose, district manager; James S. Niles, Jr., 281 Dallas Dr., Campbell, CYA coordinator; Frank A. Atcheson, 1658 Hyacinth Ln., San Jose, financial analyst.

The vacant trustee seat was created July 19 with the death of William J. Homan. Homan had been elected in April for his third term. His term of office expires June 30, 1975.

The Education Code requires that an election be held not more than 120 days after a vacancy occurs and also encourages consolidated elections whenever possible as a means of cost sharing.

West Valley will join Burbank Elementary School District on Oct. 26 since that district also has a vacant trustee seat.

The trustee who will be elected to the vacancy must reside within the Campbell Union High School District, although voters in the entire district (made up of three high school districts) can cast ballots.

The Rev. Gould, prior to coming to Campbell in 1961, had been superintendent of the Shasta District for the Methodist Church. He had previously served as pastor of the Methodist Church in Chico.

In the 10 years that the Rev. Gould has been in Campbell, he has established an outstanding record of community service. He served as a director of the Chamber of Commerce for several terms and as an active member of other community organizations.

For four consecutive years, the Rev. Gould has served as chairman of the Congress for Community Progress and he was named "citizen-of-the-year" for 1969 by the Chamber of Commerce.

In 1967, the Rev. Gould was the recipient of the annual service award of the Campbell Police Department.

Planning Commission gets restaurant plans, "repeats"

Plans for a proposed restaurant to be located across the street from the PruneYard and "repeats" by two other applicants will feature the meeting of the Planning Commission next Tuesday, Sept. 7.

Herfy's Corporation, based in Seattle, has submitted plans for a 2400 sq. ft. brick-faced restaurant building with shingle roof for property next to the Shell station on Barbano Dr., and facing Campbell Ave. The plans also include a 600 sq. ft. mezzanine.

Back before the Commission again is the application of Wilburdon Construction Co. for a warehouse/office on McGlincey Ln., showing modified plans for the parking spaces. The Commission had rejected the previous plans because more space was devoted to offices than had been in the original approval.

The firm appealed to the City Council but withdrew the appeal and has modified the plans.

The other "repeat" is the request of Central Development Co., for approval of an eight-story commercial-office-apartment complex at Hamilton and Llewellyn.

AN "ECO" MILE---Cub Scout Pack 331 decided to participate in a national program entitled Project SOAR (Save Our American Resources) recently and clean up an ecological mile.

Finding a straight mile wasn't easy, so the 30 youngsters and their ten adult supervisors combined several different areas together, including the Campbell Park, the nearby creek bed and some neighboring streets, including the parking area adjacent to the Campbell Press.

The youngsters were supplied giant trash bags by McDonald's. John Shea, cubmaster, who wasn't able to participate in the clean-up, later took some of the boys on an overnight Webelos campout.

The ambitious scouts also recently conducted a car wash to raise funds for additional scouting projects.

Editorial

Lack of understanding

Considerable publicity has been given the case study of Santa Clara County made by the so-called Nader's Raiders. The study was extremely critical of the county operation.

The Ralph Nader 25-man task force case study of Power and Land in California relating to Santa Clara County criticizes its operation as befitting rich developers and claims that the poor are hurt because of taxing and zoning and that the voter is deceived and confused.

The Press has not received a copy of the report and thus is just as dependent as you are on the reports that have been publicized in the metropolitan press.

We have attempted to peruse the news stories on the case study with the objective in mind of finding the basis for the strong accusations that were made.

It is our conclusion that by the use of the so-called "shock treatment" that has become a part of the operation of the widely-publicized Nader's Raiders, the young specialists have weakened the validity of their study.

While we concede that any investigatory body can find basic faults in all levels of government, we do not feel that a general condemnation of the entire system should necessarily follow.

Again, of course, we are basing our assumption on the reports in the news media and not from our own personal study.

We understand that the task force makes the sweeping assertion that the county government should be restructured by the state, eliminating all special purpose districts and creating one, massive multi-purpose governing unit.

We are unalterably opposed to such a huge governmental agency and always have been.

It seems to us that it would follow from such a premise that a dictatorship then would be the most efficient form of government. In other words, centralized control completely.

We do not hold that centralization in government is the best, even conceding that a benevolent dictator could conceivably govern the most efficiently.

But aside from the generalization in the report that a massive multi-purpose governing unit is necessary, we question whether these dedicated young people were able to delve deeply enough into all the aspects of this county's operation to come up with conclusions that were based on sound research.

For example, to the best of our knowledge, no "on-the-ground" research was made. As far as we have been able to find out, few, if any, city or county officials or department heads were contacted.

Yet the 107-page document is reported to have "praised" various aspects of planning and governmental response in both the county, San Jose and Cupertino.

The "praise", of course, was begrudging and offset by overwhelming criticism elsewhere in the report.

The study indicates that Santa Clara County was selected because "it has been California's strongest hope for planning in the public interest. It has a relatively active citizenry and a relatively unfragmented, visible government..."

We are not at all sure just what that means, although the case study further states that despite the failures, the county represents the best in California.

That, of course, could be considered a commendation.

In the case of Cupertino, Nader's Raiders claim that the general plan was strictly a public relations document but at least it was abiding by the law and trying to formulate a plan.

We have no idea why the Raider's singled out Cupertino as having a general plan.

Almost every city in the county has such a document.

Why didn't the task force research the others?

The young specialists claimed that Cupertino's plan was muddled and gave little guidance, even when brought up to date.

We believe that so-called task force embarked on too big a job, and they then used the "shot-gun" method in presenting their conclusions.

If it was the intent to shock rather than to solve, we think the Nader's Raiders succeeded.

We are the first to admit that the Nader group has done an excellent job on occasions in the past in focusing attention on ills that needed to be corrected. And in many instances because of their work, the ills were remedied.

But making a sweeping generalization that a massive multi-purpose governing unit, established by the state in this county, is the panacea to all our problems, in our opinion, shows a lack of understanding of the true situation.

A "PERSONAL" NOTE we received recently is worthy of quoting to illustrate the "esteem" in which The Press apparently is held in some quarters.

Here is the way it started out:

"Dear Mr. Vierhus,

"The San Jose Hyatt House is cognizant of the tremendous impact your organization has on the success and growth of the Santa Clara Valley...."

So there now.

It was explained in the letter that the Hyatt House felt that their contribution to this overall success was the service they provided.

It was their policy and continued goal to bilaterally work with us when their hotel facilities were required.

Unfortunately our huge "organization" has not yet had the opportunity or felt the need to take advantage of the facilities offered by the Hyatt House. But one never knows.

The letter further suggests that we should ask about their December special for meetings.

We just might do that.

Ask, we mean.

OVER THE YEARS UNder the direction of Brent Ulrich, the commercial printing department of The Campbell Press has built an enviable record for quality workmanship at fair prices.

With Al Overholt manning the presses, the job shop turns out everything from business cards to booklets.

It is a highly competitive field and Brent, obviously, often has to sharpen his pencil when he submits a bid for a job. But for a moment recently he thought there was a new wrinkle to bidding that he hadn't learned. Mental telepathy or something like that.

You see, the minutes of the last meeting of the Parks and Recreation Commission revealed the interesting point that The Campbell Press was the low bidder of three that had been submitted for the Parks and Recreational directory.

The low bid was $1,050, which is a nice round figure, sort of.

But there was one problem.

For some reason, Brent was not one of three printers who had been asked to bid on the job, and obviously he had not submitted a quotation.

So how come he got the job.

He didn't.

It turned out that the minutes were in error.

The low bidder was Campbell Blue Print.

The minutes, of course, at the next meeting will be corrected to reflect that The Campbell Press printing department did not get the job.

So that will be recognition, in a sort of negative way, that our outfit is around.

That could be worth something.

FROM TIME TO TIME we reflect on how much of our daily life is dependent on the telephone.

Obviously the operation of this newspaper would suffer greatly if there were no phones in use, as would thousands of other businesses.

But the phone in the home is also of vital importance to the modern way of life, ranking probably just ahead of the television set.

It is so simple now just to twirl away at the numbers, that the dialer often becomes careless, which often results in getting the wrong party.

FOR EXAMPLE, OUR home number is just one digit off that of the Winchester Drive-in Theater.

You can imagine the number of calls we get asking what is playing and what time the next show starts.

Many of the callers apparently don't think it strange that our first response had been "hello" instead of the name of the theater.

They just pound right ahead with their questions.

This wrong number thing can become slightly expensive now that direct dialing has shrunk the country.

We have some friends, for example, who live in Orinda who are constantly receiving calls meant for San Jose businesses because the caller hit the wrong slot on the dial.

There is another phase in "phonology" that often frustrates us.

That is when trying to reach some executive, an efficient secretary asks what the nature of our call is.

For some reason we always seem to draw a blank at that point.

Most of the time we just stutter something innocuous.

And hope she puts the call through.

Planners

The Commission rejected the plans the first time around (a nine-story building then). The original plan has been modified to meet some of the Commission's objections.

Other matters before the Commission include plans for a four-unit apartment for John Froese at 710 West Valley Dr., and remodeling plans for a Shell station at San Tomas and Campbell Ave.

Valley Christian School has submitted a request for a use permit to operate an elementary school at the First Baptist Church at 400 Llewellyn Ave.

Plans have also been submitted for a warehouse/office by Daley & Queen at 74 Dillon Ave., and three requests for extensions in prior approvals will be before the Commission.

SPECIAL EDITION

A special 24-page tabloid section of The Campbell Press, featuring the history of the town, selective institutional advertising and salient facts of the new civic center complex, will appear on Wednesday, Sept. 22.

The new Campbell city hall will be dedicated in a special program at 11 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 25, and the special section will commemorate that occasion.

The special edition will probably be among the documents that will be tucked away in the time capsule in the clock tower. Mrs. Jeannette Watson heads the special committee that is selecting the historical material that will make up the contents of the "time capsule".

D'Avis also reported in answer to a written question of Hank Mestice that it cost the district $1050 to remove the trees from a two-acre parcel of school district property off Allendale in Saratoga.

He added that the maintenance cost, in answer to another Mestice question, would be variable based on whether the land would remain barren

He said that the district had offers of cooperation from residents of Saratoga, including the mayor of that city.

Letters to the Editor

ABOUT THOSE TREES

Dear Editor,

How very unfortunate that you have allied yourself with Gordon Abbott and Hank Mestice in continuing to undermine the integrity of both the CUSD Board of Trustees and the district's employees. Your zealous efforts to protect the taxpayers from the mis-deeds of the school district would perhaps be more believable if you did not find it necessary to travel several miles from your own communities in order to find an issue upon which to attack the district.

You, Mr. Vierhus, in collusion with Mr. Abbott and Mr. Mestice, (8-25-71 re the Allendale property) would have us believe that you are the champions of all district residents as well as the protectors of all trees! The Board and the Business Department are, of course, the "bad guys" ---again! Funny that you should attack our school district on this particular issue, when CUSD has set a pattern for districts throughout the county in programs related to ecology.

Strange, too, that you seldom make reference to district improvements and innovative programs instituted this past year. But, of course, such information would undermine your cause, would it not?

I would like to believe that the three of you acted out of true concern for two acres of land and the trees which grew on it.

However, from past experience, I feel you are not, in fact, interested in ecology or trees, but rather in re-kindling the flames of divisiveness which caused so much ill-will during the 1970-1971 school year.

Citizens of the Saratoga area expressed genuine concern about the removal of the trees in a responsible manner. Rather than making their protest to the press, they quietly contacted the school district in an effort to remedy the situation.

I consider your tactics foolhardy and petty, and your behavior befitting petulant children who are angry at the way the game is progressing and unable to change the rules to suit their own advantage.

As a teacher and a citizen of CUSD, I submit that education is not a game, that any true community spirit you may have should dictate that you stop badgering our Board and district that we may concern ourselves with educating our children!

Sincerely,
Lynne Olivieri

DARTING AROUND

with Tom Carroll

This column was written a week ago before last Sunday's North American Open Dart Tournament in Culver City. Many of the area's top dart players are entered. The Scarlet La Rue team from Los Gatos will have a potent five-man squad. Led by the father and son team of Ben and Jim Macredes (NCDA's Doubles Champions) who will be backed up by Phil Albers, John Glaze and Dave Pena.

One of their major competitors will be the squad of Sorn Sakbodin (Monterey Tournament winner), Larry Beekley and Bill Kane from San Francisco, Ted Yudacufski of Monterey and San Jose's Kip Fanjoy.

Kip was the runner-up in the Monterey Tournament and finished third in last year's North American Open.

Also from San Francisco, we understand that the Curtaz brothers have a team entered. Last year's winners from Philadelphia as well as two teams from Toronto and a team from Asheville, North Carolina are expected to be on hand to do battle. In all, more than 200 dart players will be competing for the $4000 in prize money.

Other players entered from this area are NCDA Vice-President Rick Miller, Paul Schultz and Sunny Barry of the Banbury Clock Team, NCDA Ladies Champion Bobbie Lindsay of the Lancashire Lad and this reporter.

POTPOURRI

Another short column due to the end of the summer season, the trip to LA and getting ready for the fall dart season....The Scarlet La Rue team has challenged the Lancashire Lad for their "A" Division Plaque. Match to be held on Sept. 24. Rumor is that the Championship Courtyard team will be playing for the Country Store in Mountain View....it's getting close to the start of the new season, so get your entries in to the NCDA Competition Secretary before Sept. 10.

Both Scarlet La Rue's and and Black Watch will be picking up a second team for this season's play.

Aunt Sarah, I love you.

Remember my 10th birthday, when you gave me that funny piece of green paper and everybody made such a fuss over it. (Except me.) Frankly, it was a pretty disappointing present for a kid. I couldn't eat it, couldn't play with it, couldn't wear it—and Mom took it away from me practically the minute I got it.

And every birthday after that (and Christmas, too), you gave me another one of those Bonds, you called them. I thought you were pretty gooney.

At least, I never had to guess what I was going to get from good old reliable Aunt Sarah.

And what I got was good old reliable U.S. Savings Bonds.

What I didn't realize then was that you gave me a gift of security for the future. Thanks to you and those Bonds, I had extra funds for college. And they helped when I bought my first new car.

Next week, I'm giving my nephew, Harry, his first U.S. Savings Bond. I know the kid is gonna think I'm some kind of nut. But, someday . . .

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.
Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

Even the finest quality beef and lamb reach peak flavor only after proper aging. In vast air-conditioned aging rooms, Safeway holds meats under controlled temperature and humidity and exact time required to assure full tenderness and flavor.

TRIMMED BEFORE WEIGHING

The prices at Safeway Discount are for trimmed cuts of meat. Excess fat and bone are cut off before the meat is weighed. Each cut of meat is just right for its cooking method.

Roy and Yvonne honeymoon at Tahoe

Yvonne Allemany, wearing a cream colored gown, and veiled with a crown of flowers, was wed to Roy A. Doerr at an afternoon ceremony at Renzo's Restaurant.

The bride carried a delicate nosegay of carnations, white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Mrs. Yvonne Doerr, once affiliated with the San Francisco Academy of Advertising Art is now an airbrush artist in partnership with her husband.

Karen O'Brien served as maid of honor, dressed in sleeveless soft pink crepe. Susan Carr, as junior bridesmaid, complimented Karen in a dress of soft pink crepe.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Allemany, parents of the bride, attended the wedding along with the bridegroom's aunt, who lives in the East.

Steve O'Brien of San Francisco gave the bride's hand in marriage.

Brent Ulrich was best man for the wedding, and Mark Rea was the usher.

Roy Doerr shares his bride's interest in art. Roy is now self-employed as a commercial artist, exhibiting locally and teaching fine arts.

Following the dinner wedding at Renzo's Restaurant, the newlywedded couple left for a honeymoon journey to Lake Tahoe.

Camp friendship provides lasting memories

FUN AT THE BEACH--just goofing in the sand is all part of the fun of being at Camp Friendship.

After a day beside the ocean, the girls shake their shoes and gather their belongings together to return to camp.

by Nan Warren

Camp Friendship '71--an experience in caring.

Camp Friendship is a special kind of camp, a unique and vital part of the Santa Clara County Girl Scouts summer camping program.

Basically provided for minority children, but the camp was again shared by the Girl Scouts who attend as the minority. The camp is composed of approximately 40 Girl Scouts from throughout the Council and 70 non-scouts, primarily from the Franklin-McKinley School District.

This camp began five years ago when a concerned Senior Girl Scout Troop in Palo Alto conceived the idea. Since that first camp, it has grown to such proportions it can no longer be handled by a single troop and therefore, the responsibility for Camp Friendship was taken on by the entire Council.

The families of all the girls are contacted individually at least once. Particulars of the camp are explained.

The girls spend five days in town at Velledrome Park getting acquainted, cooking out, making ice cream and various other activities. Health exams were provided for those who did not have their own family doctor.

Then on August 25 the big day arrived. The girls boarded the busses at Kelly Park and "sang" their way to Skylark Ranch near Pescadero, for the remaining seven days of their camping experience. For many, this was their first time away from home.

Do they have fun?

Camp Friendship wouldn't be in its fifth year if they didn't. At Skylark there are completely new experiences from which the girls may learn. They make clay objects from the natural clay found in the area and bake them in a kiln built by a volunteer adult leader.

All sorts of nature type crafts are provided. A hiking trip to the beach to catch a glimpse of sea life on the rocks along the shoreline is another fascinating part of their camping trip.

In their units, each girl or patrol of girls, has their own responsibilities. Breakfast and dinner are served in the dining hall, but the girls prepare lunch within the units.

The units are staffed with three or four Senior Scouts and a Unit Mother. Great friendships grow among these girls and their staff throughout their stay at camp. Sometimes it's difficult to say goodbye and head home, but it doesn't end with the last day of camp.

Whenever possible, these non-scouts are placed into troops or with the help of parents, new troops are started. Along in February, the entire group gets together for a Camp Friendship reunion.

The camp program involves a great deal of hard work and dedication on the part of the staff, but an experience in caring for all concerned.

A group of girls wait patiently with their unit leader as the "cooks for the day" prepare to serve them lunch.

Too many cooks spoil the koolade--Never! These girls of Meadowlark unit are just making sure everything comes out right for lunch.

Connie Orr, of Campbell and Karen Rickert, of Santa Clara head back to camp ladened down with a bucket of sand which their unit will use in casting sand candles.

Dean Vesling leads fair share drive

Campbell volunteers of the Santa Clara County United Fund kick-off their 13th annual campaign today to raise more than $55,968, the total raised last year, as part of the Fund's county-wide effort to provide funding for more than 100 human care services in 1972.

Led by IBM's Dean Vesling, a team of selected campaigners are out to substantially overtake last year's final results. Assisting the chairman are: Commerce & Industry Chairman Joseph D. Geist, assistant manager, Wells Fargo Bank; Business Chairman Richard L. Madsen, West Valley Precision; and John L. Ruppell, Jr., administrative assistant, City of Campbell.

Campbell is part of the Fund's Central Area Chapter that raised more than $2,190,760 last year. The other communities include San Jose, Milpitas, Santa Clara, Cambrian Park, Cupertino-Monta Vista, Los Gatos-Monte Sereno and Saratoga.

More than 12,000 volunteers are expected to participate in this year's drive. A total of $3,751,749 was raised county-wide in 1970.

A Fair Share pledge, according to UF volunteers, is suggested as a guide to giving. It bases giving on the ability to contribute, assures that each person is asked to give on an equitable basis, and relates giving to the demonstrated needs of the community.

For persons earning up to $10,000 annually, one hour's pay per month is suggested as Fair Share. Individuals making more than that figure are asked to consider one per cent of their annual income as a Fair Share contribution.

THREE LEG WINNER

Volunteers from County Parks and Recreation centers directed Kids' Day activities at the County Fair, which included such varied events as a pie eating contest, three-legged races, freckle contest, and finding a needle in a haystack.

Eight-year-old, Joe Williams of Campbell was the happy winner of first place in the three-legged races.

Student performance of "The Boyfriend" raises $500

Members of the "Campbell Civic Theater" who put on a smashing performance of "The Boyfriend" at Campbell High School Auditorium, recently, have raised $500 for the John D. Morgan Fund, according to Perry Rogers, who directed the music for the show.

The all-student cast spent a furious four weeks readying the musical and received standing ovations from attending audiences.

The performance was underwritten by the Campbell Rotary Club who contributed the $250 they had "loaned" to the young people for the fund. Production costs were kept to a bare minimum, except for $185 for royalties.

The performers contributed most of their own costumes ($4.10 for material); the tickets were donated by Simpson Printers and the programs by Phoenix Press.

The complete sets, except for a few dollars for paints, were lent by Sunnyvale Council for the Arts and Bud Dimock of Maple Leaf Music loaned the banjo for the band.

Rogers, a junior at San Jose State College, plans to continue his major in history and minor in music, but also expects to continue working with the civic theater during the year.

George Akina, who directed much of the production is a junior drama major at University of Pacific at Stockton. Rogers and Akina are both graduates of Campbell High School.

Ann Sjoberg, who assisted in the choreography for the show, is a junior nursing student at Stanford.

The only adult advisor was Mrs. Marie Stinnett, local dance studio teacher, who helped the students perfect their dance routines and to whom the entire cast has paid tribute.

The theatrical production was instigated by John Hall, Campbell High School drama coach, who was in Europe during the rehearsals and production, but who expressed a desire, prior to his departure, to encourage the student group to continue to offer performances to the public.

Tragedy ends rope game

Tragedy struck a 14 year old boy here visiting from Fresno when he was accidentally hanged last week while playing with a rope in the front yard of 272 Superior Dr.

Michael Arcena was dead upon arrival at Campbell Community Hospital, an ill-fated ending to a game he had been playing with another youngster. Mrs. Barbara Maez, a relative, became alarmed when told that Michael was lying in the front yard and applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to no avail.

In other reports of the Campbell Police Department, an armed robbery occurred late Saturday afternoon at Lincoln Hutton and Son, 1715 Winchester Blvd. when a man entered by a rear door and demanded money from Mr. and Mrs. Hutton.

The robber, who wore a black stocking mask, appeared nervous, according to the Lincolns and was brandishing a long barrelled revolver.

John C. Vierhus Insurance Agency, 2270 S. Bascom, was burglarized Friday evening.

The building was entered through a skylight during the night and the intruder(s) used matches as light as they were removing property and money. Vierhus stated that two transistor radios, a television set and office equipment were removed, as well as cash, not usually kept in the office, a total loss of about $1100.

cured of cancer

Eight-year-old Jo Ann Baca of Brighton, Colorado, has every reason to smile at the future. As an infant, she developed Wilms' tumor—a cancer of the kidney. Prompt treatment saved Jo Ann's life. Today, many children are being cured of cancers that once were incurable. To cure more, give more.

KATHRYN COLE

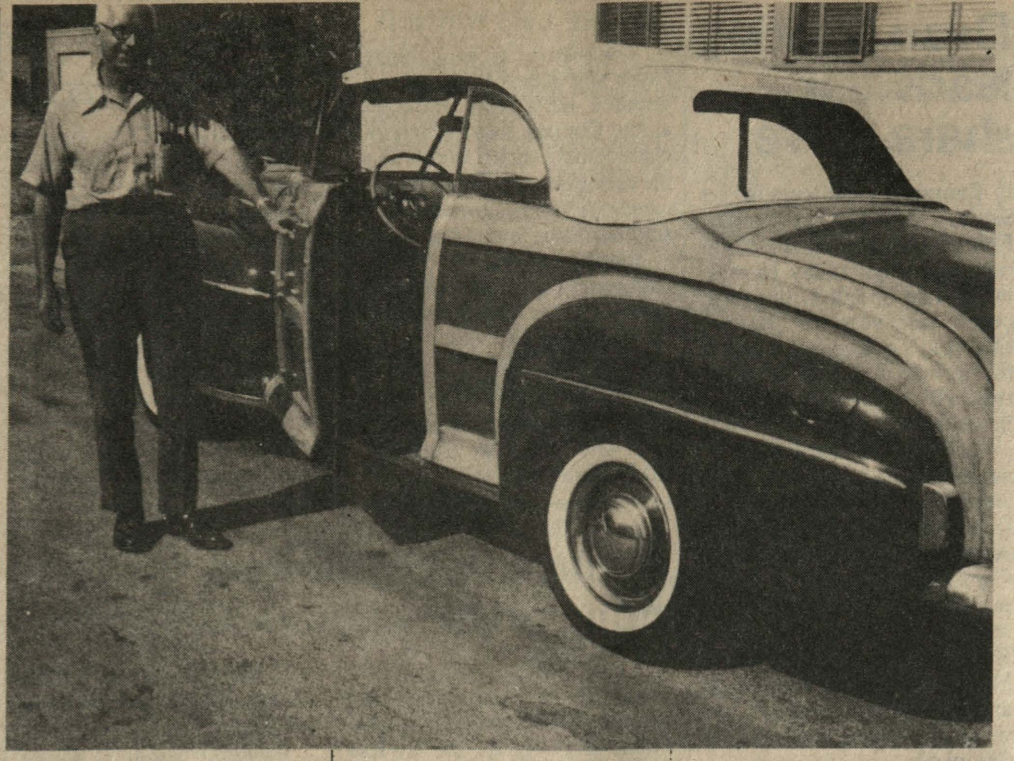
Services were conducted yesterday for Mrs. Kathryn W. Cole, 82, 233 N. Central Ave., who died of a heart attack following an attempted rape.

Mrs. Cole, a native of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, had lived in Campbell for 30 years. She was the sister of August Anger of St. Petersburg, Florida. A grandson, Paul Brasch, lives in San Jose and a granddaughter, Caroline Lewis, resides in Tennessee.

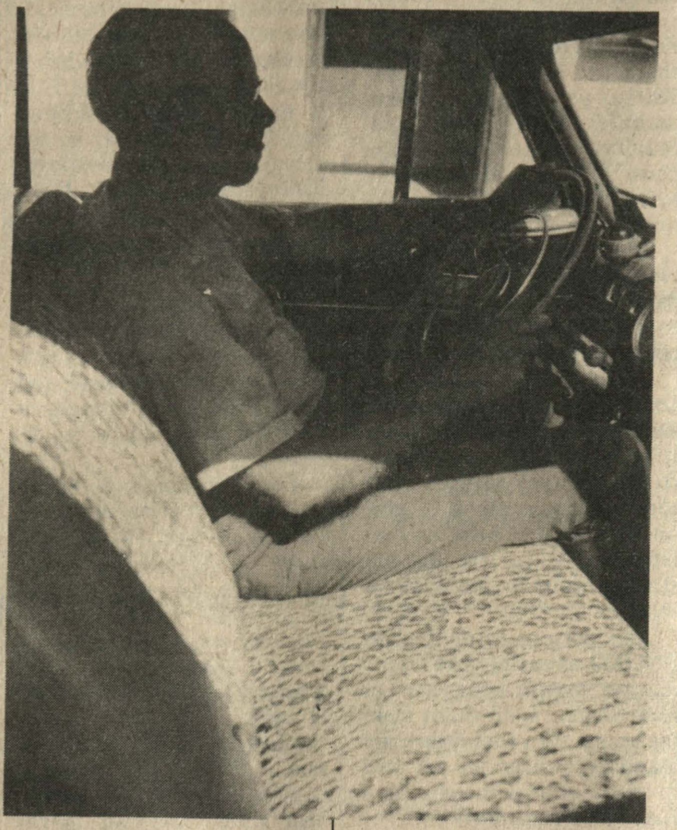
Mrs. Cole apparently surprised a would-be rapist as he attempted to climb through a window, and ran from the house. Later, she suffered a heart attack and was pronounced dead upon arrival at Campbell Community Hospital.

Campbell police were summoned to another address shortly after Mrs. Cole's house was entered and investigated a rape involving another elderly woman.

Services for Mrs. Cole were conducted by Campbell Memorial Chapel with inurnment at Los Gatos Memorial Park.



JUST LIKE NEW---Holly Vollenweider, Campbell realtor, never claimed to be a car buff, but when he saw this 1947 super deluxe Ford sportsman convertible, he just couldn't resist. Vollenweider was a car dealer in Iowa and sold this model new. Current value, he says, is probably as much or more than the car was sold for new.



A HAPPY MAN---This 1947 Ford piloted by Holly Vollenweider has several features which the car industry is currently touting, including a locking mechanism on the steering wheel and a hood lock. The leopard skin upholstery shows very little wear and the vehicle came equipped with nine tires! The wood paneled sides of the convertible are like new as is the interior of the trunk. Vollenweider, a local realtor, recently purchased the 1947 car, which has a scant 63,000 miles on the speedometer.

BIBLE SCHOOL AT NIGHT--Saratoga Avenue Baptist Church conducted a vacation Bible school this summer --- in the evening. The program, according to Reverend Harry L. Twining, pastor, gave fathers a chance to participate in the program, which enrolled 152 primary and juniors in the school. Rev. Richard Reed, youth pastor, superintended the program. The picture was taken during enrollment.

Beads as an art are Pat Carlson's hang-up

by Barbara Price

Seated in a sunny corner of her new enterprise, the Bead Box, Mrs. Pat Carlson talked animatedly about her favorite hobby; teaching community women the art of beadworking.'

A pretty potted geranium, and a graceful spring bouquet, both constructed of beads, are among the traditional designs Mrs. Carlson teaches here students.

The beautiful decorative beadwork is shaped by slipping hundreds of delicate beads onto wires, according to a pattern, which is a good deal like the patterns for knitting or crocheting.

"Working with the beads is so relaxing", Mrs. Carlson said. She explained that some of her students with arthritis have found the beadwork good exercise for their hands.

As we were talking, the door swung open to a stream of children and adults. Mrs. Carlson introduced one smiling redhead as her seven year old daughter, Lia.

Pat Carlson explains that Larry, 14, Rick, 18, and her postman husband, Edward, complete their family picture.

A friend from New York introduced Pat to the craft of beadwork several years ago. Since then her classes have grown along with her enthusiasm for the art.

Mrs. Carlson will be starting new ten-week courses in beadwork the week of September 13. There are still openings for the Monday, Thursday and Friday morning classes, which run from 10 to 12 a.m. Also, there is room for students in the evening class which is from 7:30 to 9:30 on Monday night.

Those interested in registering for the classes should contact Mrs. Carlson soon, at The Bead Box, 860 San Tomas Road.

The classes are free of charge, except for the cost of materials.

Sullivan Pre-School Center to open in Santa Clara

STORY TELLING---Pre-School age children visiting the new Sullivan Pre-school Center this week received a special treat while their parents toured the new facilities at 840 Bing Dr., Santa Clara. Naomi Miller, an experienced story teller, greeted this group of youngsters and proceeded to capture their attention with the kind of book that three-year-olds can appreciate. The center is open to the public this week as officials register youngsters for the fall session starting after Labor Day.

The new Sullivan Pre-School Center at 840 Bing Dr., in Santa Clara is open to the public this week as officials at the center register youngsters to begin the fall session following Labor Day.

The totally new center, designed to provide complete pre-school and kindergarten for children ages 2½ to 6, will serve the people of Santa Clara, Cupertino, Sunnyvale and Campbell. The center is located just off Homestead near Lawrence Expressway. Cost of the project totals $350,000.

"This is our second week of Open House, and we are delighted with the community's enthusiastic reception of Sullivan's unique pre-school program," Mrs. Virginia Wilson, director, said.

The new pre-school center occupies an acre of land. The building provides more than 10,000 square feet of floor space in an unusual arrangement of spacious rooms and open teaching areas.

Dr. Robert E. Jenkins, former superintendent of schools for San Francisco and Pasadena, is president of Sullivan Pre-School Centers, an educational affiliate of Behavioral Research Laboratories of Palo Alto.

The new center is the second Sullivan Pre-School facility in Santa Clara County and the fourth in a statewide system of pre-schools built by SPS. The San Jose center opened at Foxworthy and Old Almaden Rd. last April. Other Bay Area centers scheduled to open in the Fall are located in Fremont, Mill Valley and Concord. The first center, located in Redwood City has been in operation a year.

Eleven centers will be in operation before the end of the year, representing an investment of $3.5 million, Dr. Jenkins said.

The Santa Clara center is designed to accommodate 200 children. The program will be under the direction of Mrs. Wilson and a staff of 20 professionals including four master teachers, eight teachers and eight assistants.

Outside the building, the grounds have been designed as a "creative play yard," to help young children develop an appreciation for nature as well as for games and recreation.

The Sullivan Pre-School curriculum includes instruction in the beginning fundamentals of reading, math and social studies, utilizing the well known Sullivan programmed learning materials. Outdoor games and indoor play activities are included, along with story telling, music, art and dramatic play. Lunch and snacks are provided.

Pre-registration for fall session will continue this week and next, Mrs. Wilson said. Parents are invited to visit the center anytime. The children are welcome.

Management courses available through adult education program

Five practical Supervisory Management courses will be offered by the Metropolitan Adult Education Program this fall under the instruction of Barney Watson.

Watson, who has authored and co-authored numerous published articles and texts, has designed and conducted a full range of inter-agency training programs in data processing for management, career skills and management sciences.

Students interested in taking this course may pre-register at the Campbell Administrative Center, 1224 Del Mar Ave., San Jose, any day this week. The center will be closed September 6 and 9. Classes begin September 13. For information concerning these classes call 292-2737.

Two classes will meet at the Memorex training center in Santa Clara, Monday 9 a.m. to 12 and Friday 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Three classes will meet in the Del Mar Annex, 1224 Del Mar Ave., one on Tuesday, 9 a.m. to 12; another Wednesday, 9-12; and the third on Thursdays from 9-12.

According to Watson, no two classes are alike and the direction of the class will depend largely on the experience of the people in the class. One of eight classes leading to a Leadership and Supervision Certificate, may be taken to improve present job performance, to prepare for promotion or for general information.

Three honored at West Valley

Robert G. Fricke, Arne Lunde, and S. Gregory Tiernan, all faculty members at West Valley College, have been selected to appear in the 1971 edition of "Outstanding Educators of America".

Instructors were selected for their talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic service, and professional recognition.

Fricke, who holds a master's degree in history from University of California, Berkeley, was chosen as "teacher of the year" by West Valley students in 1964, the first year of the college's operation.
year of the college's operation.

Lunde, a native of Norway, has been a foreign language instructor for the college since 1969. He holds a master's degree in German from the University of California at Santa Barbara and has studied in a special program at the University of Gottingen, Germany.

Tiernan, an English instructor for West Valley since 1968, holds master's degrees both in English, from Loyola University of Los Angeles, and in Theology, from Alma College.

Marguerite Piazza, the American Cancer Society's National Crusade Chairman for 1971, asks your help in ridding the world of the tragedy of cancer. "Each of us has a stake in the cancer fight," says the dynamic singer, "and each of us must give generously, when the ACS volunteer calls, so that this dread disease can be eliminated forever."

Tests show water pure in area

Water users of both the Campbell Water Co. and the San Jose Water Works, the two utilities that serve this area, have been reassured that the water that flows through their pipes contains no significant levels of mercury.

Homer Hyde, general manager of the Campbell Water Co., said that constant tests are being conducted as to the purity of the water.

Hyde said that California Water Service, a privately owned utility serving about one million customers in California, recently completed extensive testings of the reservoirs and creeks which provide the valley's water supply.

In addition, Hyde said, continued testings by the water companies that serve the area are being conducted on a mutual basis.

The reassurance came on the heels of a state report that indicated that Lexington Reservoir, a percolation, but not a drinking water facility contained more mercury than the safe limit.

Sanitary engineers of the Campbell Water Service claimed that the figures released by the state were hard to believe in respect to their own tests and suggested that the state report must be in error.

GOVERNOR VISITS---Rotary International's District 517 Governor Clarence I. McGilliard visited recently with the Campbell Rotary Club. On his visit he met with the new local officers: Myron Alexander, president; Bruce Stevenson, vice-president; Marv Bamburg, secretary; Ray Strong, treasurer, and Hal Strickland, sergeant-at-arms. After meeting with club officers in the morning, Governor McGilliard brought a message from International President Ernst G. Breitholtz of Kalmar, Sweden via tape recorder to the regular club meeting held at the First United Methodist Church on Winchester Blvd.

Health department offers paps tests for women

The County Health Department is still offering Pap tests, a cancer checkup for women, at clinics in four areas of the county as part of its Multiphasic Screening Program.

The test is a highly reliable way to detect uterine cancer, one of the most common forms of female cancer, the Health Department reports. The test can show up a cancer in the early stages when it can be treated and cured.

In a nine-month period 870 tests have been completed. There have been three cases of early cancer discovered out of the 870 cases processed. A fourth case is pending further diagnosis.

The tests, offered without charge, are being paid for under a $9,000 grant to the health department from the American Cancer Society's Santa Clara County unit. The primary purpose of the grant is to make the tests available to women who do not have the opportunity to see a doctor regularly.

Any woman over 30 may qualify for a test. To arrange for a test, a woman should call the health clinic nearest to her home for an appointment.

The central office location is at 2220 Moorpark Ave., San Jose, 297-1636, Ext. 234.

Other tests available at these clinics are for glaucoma, diabetes, high blood pressure, height and weight, lung and heart disease.

Any person over 30 may qualify for these tests.

Anyone over 21 with a family history of these diseases may also qualify.

CHP warns about Labor Day holiday traffic hazards

"Labor Day weekend is much like any other weekend except that it's one day longer and traffic usually is a little heavier," Captain A. J. Zink of the California Highway Patrol said today. "Which is another way of saying that driving this holiday weekend will be somewhat more hazardous than it is normally."

The CHP commander pointed out that Saturdays and Sundays rank one and two as the days when fatal accidents occur, and Monday is fifth. But on a three-day holiday, Monday becomes just as hazardous as Saturday and Sunday because, he said, "thousands of people who usually spend the day at work are out driving."

Hazards for the Labor Day weekend driver are the same as they are at any time he drives. They include drinking drivers, sleepy drivers, drunk pedestrians, motorcycles which are difficult to see, bicyclists who are unpredictable, children who dart out into the roadway, too much speed for conditions, following too close, unsafe lane changes, and mechanical failures," he said.

The CHP official said 60 per cent of Labor Day accidents happened, in past years, within 25 miles of home. More than half occurred on two-lane streets or highways, and about 65 per cent on rural roads.

"A careful driver can reduce his chances of involvement in an accident by staying off the road when he's sleepy or under the influence of alcohol. He can try to stay off the road during the hours of 1 a.m. to dawn when other drivers are most likely to be drunk or sleepy and most apt to become wrong way drivers, drift from lane to lane, or veer across the road as they doze."

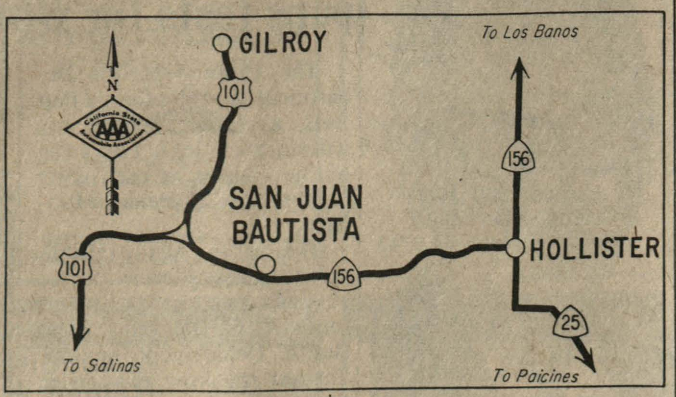
San Juan Bautista reflects historical mission period



In the hot days of summer when the heat waves shimmer along the Salinas Valley and cattle seek the shade of trees, the sun-baked buildings of San Juan Bautista that are rich with the tradition of Mexico and early mission settlements take on new meaning.

A walk around the plaza and a visit to some of the old structures that surround it, is literally a walk through California history.

San Juan Bautista is actually a compounding of three periods of California's colorful history, reports the California State Automobile Association---the Mission period, the Mexican and the early American periods.

The mission itself was both a church and monastery of the Catholic Church. It was built in 1797 and the church was the largest of the mission churches. The bell that hangs in the garden in front of the chapel is the only one that is left of nine that hung there originally in recognition of the importance of the church.

The walls inside show the original decorations done by the Indian converts in paint made from ground rock.

The convent wing of the mission which adjoins the church contains many interesting relics of the early days.

Directly opposite the mission across the plaza is a building labeled "Plaza Hall". This is the Zanetta House, erected in 1815 to house unmarried Indian girls and women. After the mission period it was used as headquarters by the cavalrymen of General Jose Castro.

When Angelo Zanetta acquired the house he tore down the walls and rebuilt them of adobe in 1868. Upstairs is a large hall, famous as the Plaza Hall. The lower floor was Zanetta's private residence.

Other historic buildings around the plaza are the Castro House built in 1840-41, and the Plaza Hotel built in 1813-14. The hotel was built as a barracks and headquarters for the Spanish soldiers stationed here to protect the Franciscan padres in their work with the Indians.

Just below the mission on the side facing the rodeo grounds is a portion of the old El Camino Real, the Kings Highway, that once connected all the missions in the chain.

In back of the mission is the Indian cemetery with the graves of over 4,000 of those who lived at the mission settlement.

San Juan Bautista, called "The City of History", makes a fascinating motor trip for all members of the family along the historic El Camino Real.
